

Information about this Bankruptcy Form

Use this form to apply for bankruptcy under the Bankruptcy Act 1966, or to submit your Statement of Affairs where someone else has made you bankrupt through a court order.

This is a legal document with serious consequences (including imprisonment) for providing false information or making a false declaration.

How the information in this form is used

If you want to apply for bankruptcy, the Australian Financial Security Authority (AFSA) will use the information you provide in this form to determine whether or not to accept your application.

Your bankruptcy trustee will use the information from the form to manage your bankruptcy. This usually involves the sale of any available assets, as well as collection of income contributions (if your income exceeds certain limits), and distributing funds to your creditors after recovering the trustee's costs and remuneration. Your trustee may seek further information/evidence about your affairs from you and/or other people, organisations and businesses. Your trustee may also investigate any sale/transfer of assets and/or potential breaches of legislation.

How this form is set out and the type of information you need to complete the form

Sections A–D ask you to provide information about:

- your personal details and circumstances of your bankruptcy
- your employment and income
- the debts you owe
- money and bank accounts you have, and
- your general personal assets.

Sections E–J ask you to provide information about:

- real estate
- financial assets
- money owed to you
- assets owned by others that you may have contributed to
- asset transfers
- other secured creditors not previously detailed
- business, companies and trusts
- legal actions, and
- proceeds of crime orders.

Section K asks you to confirm details about how you are submitting your form.

Sections L–N require you to make a declaration. If you are submitting your form:

- online, complete Section L
- by post, complete Section M, or
- by post on behalf of another person, complete Section N. (To confirm whether you are eligible to submit a form on behalf of someone else go to www.afsa.gov.au/bankruptcy-form-tips).

In some questions you may need additional space. If so, download the relevant pages from the AFSA website at www.afsa.gov.au/bankruptcy-form-tips.

Note: All amounts in this form should be shown in whole dollars, do not show cents.

Time to complete

Once you have all of the required information, as outlined above, it should take approximately 30–60 minutes to complete this form.

INCOMPLETE FORMS WILL NOT BE ACCEPTED AND WILL BE RETURNED TO YOU.

Further information and assistance

For general information about bankruptcy and other personal insolvency options visit the AFSA website at www.afsa.gov.au.

Examples of completed forms are available from the AFSA website at <https://www.afsa.gov.au/bankruptcy-form-tips>.

If you still have difficulty completing the form you may want to contact a Financial Counsellor (a free service) for assistance. You can call the National Debt Helpline on 1800 007 007 or visit <https://www.afsa.gov.au/insolvency/cant-pay-my-debts/where-find-help>.

If you need help understanding English you can call 131 450 for the cost of a local phone call to use the Translation and Interpreting Service (www.tisnational.gov.au).

Privacy and your personal information

The information you are required to provide on this form is collected under, and for the purposes of, the Bankruptcy Act 1966 or related legislation. AFSA has a privacy policy at www.afsa.gov.au/privacy that provides information regarding the collection, storage, use and disclosure of personal information, including how you may:

- access your personal information
- seek to have that information corrected, and
- complain if you feel your privacy has been breached along with information on how your complaint will be dealt with.

Note: Under the Bankruptcy Act 1966 certain information you provide in this form may be made publicly available. Information that will not be publicly accessible is marked with this symbol (⊗)

How to submit your form

Online submission

Please log in to your Bankruptcy Online account at <https://www.afsa.gov.au/online-services> and you will be able to upload and submit this form. Please ensure you complete the online submission declaration at Section L.

If you have not created your Bankruptcy Online account, you will need to register (using the link above) and validate your identity before you can submit this form.

Non-online submission

You will not be able to submit the form online if you are:

- applying jointly with someone else (the other person's form needs to be submitted together with yours), or
- applying as a partner of a business (all, or the majority of, the other partner's form(s) will need to be submitted together with yours), or
- completing the form on behalf of someone who:
 - is blind, partially sighted, illiterate or partially literate, and/or
 - is insufficiently familiar with the English language, and/or
 - has a physical incapacity.

If you are unable to submit the form online:

Print the form, complete the applicable declaration at Section M or Section N and have your identity verified by an authorised witness such as a Commissioner for Declarations, a Justice of the Peace, a pharmacist, or a police officer (a list of authorised witnesses is at www.afsa.gov.au/bankruptcy-form-tips).

Post the completed form and signed declaration to AFSA, GPO Box 1550, Adelaide, SA 5001.

IMPORTANT: You must read this information before you sign the Bankruptcy Form. This page contains essential information about the consequences of, and alternatives to, bankruptcy.

Your assets may be sold. You will be able to keep ordinary household goods, some tools you use to earn an income (up to a certain value), and some vehicles if you use them primarily as a means of transport (up to a certain value), but other assets (including your house) can be sold by your trustee. If you acquire, receive or inherit any assets while you are bankrupt you must tell your trustee. You cannot conceal, remove or dispose of any assets inside or outside Australia. If you do, you may be subject to criminal prosecution.

Your income, employment and business may be affected. If your income exceeds a limit*, you may be required to make contributions from your income to your trustee. You cannot be a director of or manage a company. Some professional/licensing bodies may restrict or prevent you from continuing in that trade or profession. You may not be able to hold certain public positions such as a member of parliament. If you are in business and trade under a business name different to your personal name, you must tell everyone you deal with that you are bankrupt. If you don't, you may be subject to criminal prosecution.

Your ability to travel will be affected. You will not be able to travel overseas without written permission from your trustee.

Your ability to obtain credit and certain services may be affected. You may find it hard to borrow money or buy things on credit. You may find it hard to obtain approval to rent properties and get electricity, gas, water and phone connections without paying bonds. Some banks may not let you operate certain accounts or restrict how you operate accounts. If you obtain loans or buy goods and services on credit (including under hire purchase, leasing or instalment arrangements) over a certain value* you must tell the provider that you are bankrupt. If you receive payments for supplying goods or services totalling more than a certain value* you must also tell the purchaser that you are bankrupt. If you don't disclose your bankruptcy in these circumstances, you may be subject to criminal prosecution.

You may not be released from all your debts. Not all debts are covered by bankruptcy. You must continue to pay debts, such as penalties, fines, child support and debts incurred by fraud. If you have an asset which is under finance or a mortgage (car, house, etc) and you do not maintain your repayments, the creditor can repossess and sell the asset; however the shortfall, if any, will be covered by bankruptcy.

Your name will be on the public bankruptcy register forever and there will be other personal impacts. Your bankruptcy will also be recorded on a commercial credit record for at least 5 years. You must immediately notify your trustee in writing of any change in your personal circumstances (change in name, address, income, etc).

Your trustee will charge a fee for managing your bankruptcy. Your trustee is entitled to take a fee for managing your bankruptcy. Generally the fee is recovered from any available assets or income contributions in the administration.

* This is an indexed amount and changes periodically. For the actual current amount, visit www.afsa.gov.au and look for 'indexed amounts'.

Further information about the consequences of bankruptcy is available at www.afsa.gov.au.

If you are voluntarily applying for bankruptcy, have you considered alternative options?

- Talk to your creditors – Some creditors could give you more time to pay, agree to renegotiate repayments or accept smaller payment to settle the debt.
- Lodge a declaration of intention to apply for bankruptcy – This is an interim step that stops your creditors, the bailiff or sheriff taking action to recover unsecured debts for a period of 21 days. You could use that time to speak to your creditors, consider other options or seek advice.
- Propose and enter a debt agreement (DA) or a personal insolvency agreement (PIA) – These are legally binding agreements between you and your creditors which must be accepted by the majority of your creditors. You can offer to pay your creditors by instalments or in a lump sum which may be less than the full amount of your debts. Your level of income, debts and assets will determine whether you are eligible for a DA or a PIA.

Further information about these options is available from financial counsellors, registered trustees, registered debt agreement administrators, lawyers, accountants, or by visiting www.afsa.gov.au.

Unless a creditor has made you bankrupt, you have the option at the time that you lodge this Bankruptcy Form of choosing to have a registered trustee administer your bankruptcy. If you choose a registered trustee, you must speak to them before you lodge this Bankruptcy Form as they must agree to the appointment and lodge a consent to act form with the Official Receiver either before or at the same time that you lodge this form.

However, if a registered trustee has not already consented to act as your trustee, the Official Receiver may, when processing your Bankruptcy Form, request that a registered trustee administer your bankruptcy. The Official Receiver will contact you to seek your consent if this is to occur.

If a registered trustee has not agreed to administer your bankruptcy, the Official Trustee will become the trustee.

Note: Your trustee may change at a later date, including where creditors request a particular trustee, if a registered trustee ceases to act or a transfer between trustees occurs.

A creditor is who you owe the debt to.

An unsecured debt is a debt not backed by an asset (e.g. a credit card, tax debt, personal loan). An unsecured creditor does not have the right to repossess and sell an asset if you are unable to repay what you owe them.

A related entity includes a relative, a company in which you or a relative are a director, a trust in which you or a relative are a beneficiary or trustee, a partnership in which you or a relative are a member. The full definition of related entity is even broader than this. If you are unsure, visit the AFSA website at <https://www.afsa.gov.au/bankruptcy-form-tips>
